ROLE AT TMS GLOBAL

Regina serves as TMS Global's chief development officer, leading the advancement, communications, and church ministry departments of TMS Global. Regina has more than 20 years of experience serving with Christian nonprofit organizations. She is a proven ministry leader who has focused her efforts on increasing the financial resources of nonprofits.

Regina has extensive experience in many types of fundraising and marketing strategies, and is a certified coach. She is passionate about coaching the next generation of ministry leaders. Because she has served as a missionary in Mozambique, she understands first-hand the need to connect donors and ministries.

BACKGROUND

While pursuing her career in international marketing and living in New York City, Regina was exposed to missions in 1996, when she visited and later became a missionary to Mozambique. At that time, the Lord radically changed her heart and gave her a passion for ministry and taking the hope we have in Jesus to the ends of the earth.

Regina has served with Operation Mobilization (OM), the Luis Palau Association, Food for the Poor, and World Challenge before joining TMS Global in 2017.

PERSONAL

Regina is married to Jeff and currently resides south of Atlanta in Senoia, Georgia. They love boating and spending time with family, especially their new granddaughter, Piper.
