ROLE AT TMS GLOBAL

Duane serves as team leader and chief ideator for the church culture department of TMS Global. His duties include directing the church mobilization efforts, finding and equipping believers and churches to be strategically engaged in living out their Acts 1:8 calling, and managing the growing network of mission representatives that are engaged in promoting TMS Global.

BACKGROUND

Prior to joining the staff of TMS Global, Duane served with the Wesleyan Church of Canada. In that role, he served as pastor and church planter, including six years of ministry among the Acadian-speaking peoples of Southwest Nova Scotia. He gained valuable experience working in the for-profit world with a major Canadian company. Duane also served The Wesleyan Church in the US as a leadership assessor, coach, coach developer, and adjunct faculty member in the US and overseas. Duane serves as an adjunct professor with Asbury Theological Seminary and Asbury University. Duane also launched Transformissional Coaching and Consulting (TC2), offering coaching and consulting services to for-profit and non-profit organizations.

PUBLICATIONS

Duane has written articles for the TMS Global magazine, Unfinished, several devotionals for Light From The Word, online articles for E-Kings Highway, book reviews for Missiology: An International Review, and the Seedbed blog. Duane completed his Ph.D. dissertation, Life Beyond The Launch: Case Studies in Vitality, Adaptation, and Identity Formation of New Wesleyan Congregations.

PERSONAL

Duane is married to Patty, and father to three Canadian-born teens: Eric, Kathryn, and Elizabeth. He enjoys traveling, car detailing, and golfing.
