ROLE AT TMS GLOBAL

Kate plays a key role in the design, planning, and implementation of priority global engagement strategies with a focus on team formation, team leader development, and the development of a community paradigm throughout the TMS Global cross-cultural worker community.

BACKGROUND

Kate has known about TMS Global since she was in elementary school. An internship with Mosaic Church in Los Angeles drew her to the West Coast, where she moved after college to join the film industry. Kate spent several years working as a production coordinator. She moved to Atlanta in 2009 and joined TMS Global in 2010, initially working in the mobilization department.

PUBLICATIONS

Kate has written articles for Unfinished magazine, blogs regularly at www.givingrhythms.com, and has been featured as a guest blogger for Plywood People, Project Inspired, and Seedbed.

PERSONAL

Kate is addicted to potential and black coffee. She lives in Georgia, where you can find her enjoying every tasty bite of the local food culture, picking up heavy barbells, and asking deep questions that move people toward their goals. Kate coaches and consults for social innovators and their teams around Atlanta. She is also the proud dog-mama to her rescue pup, Rosie.
