

Steve Wilson

Senior Director for International Mobilization

Role at TMS Global

Steve trains and mobilizes people and churches internationally to join the global mission movement. He is helping TMS Global launch an alliance of international partners who collaborate to help send people into cross-cultural ministry, whether that be across the street or around the globe.

Steve has helped TMS Global launch a small-group Bible study called Who Is My Neighbor?. The aim is to inspire and resource people to cross the street and reach the nations, by first asking the question: "who is my neighbor?" As a TMS Global community, we want to share our experience of crossing cultural barriers and building bridges for the gospel, so all people can love their neighbor well.

Steve has served with TMS Global for over 20 years, living in Costa Rica, Mexico, Atlanta, and now Colorado.

Background

While living in Mexico, Steve and his family focused their work on community development, discipleship, and church planting in one of the urban neighborhoods of Monterrey. He also worked with the Methodist Church of Mexico in helping develop their mission strategy.

Prior to working with TMS Global, Steve served as a pastor and also as a student minister in churches in Georgia.

Publications

Steve is the author of the Bridge Guide: A Parent and Youth Conversation Guide for the Summer Before High School. He has collected stories of rites of passage from around the globe and helps parents adapt common elements to craft a unique road trip experience, strengthening your relationship with your teen for the high school years ahead.

Steve has also written the Who Is My Neighbor? study guide. This small group course helps you strengthen your relationships with diverse neighbors and have some great conversations with new ones. Our hope is that you will naturally have more conversations with your neighbors that point to Jesus.

Personal

Steve and his wife, Heather, have three boys and one girl. In his spare time, he enjoys good food and live music with his wife. Occasionally, you can find him camping, kayaking, rock climbing, mountain biking, or woodworking.
